Gardens of spirit to nurture heart and soul

Dream a little with us...

Share your dream with me. Let me hear every detail until your eyes light up with excitement as you imagine yourself in that place. Tell me what it feels like as you walk through it; as you live, eat, grow, play and dream some more there..

We weave it into your Design

We'll nurture your dream and grow it into a concept that belongs with your home, your land and your family. It will surprise you to see just how right it is for you. That's our skill, experience, passion and professional design education working for you. All the while, your budget and needs are on our mind.

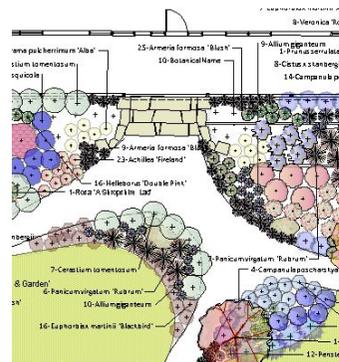

A Master Plan ready for client feedback .

Every element of your Master Plan is detailed with exceptional care and attention. Technical drawings, sections, layout dimensions, drainage, irrigation, lighting, engineering and landscape details may all form part of the documentation for construction, depending on how much building has to be done. Specifications are the instruction manual for our construction crews.

Beautifully combined Planting design is a detail we savour. Tell me about the plants from your childhood or a holiday that bring you memories of a place you loved, that lifts your spirit. We like to create a place for you to recharge, not labour in unduly. While we're working through every detail, we're also applying our sustainability accreditation principles; it's just what we do.

The end of the planning phase is just the beginning of our support to create your garden. We can organize and oversee the construction, coach you through the establishment phase and periodically review and rework areas to suit who you are now. It's a life long relationship or a little bit of help, depending on what you need.

Who we are...

After 13 years of designing, specifying, building, planting, nurturing and coaching our gardens with our clients, we're even more passionate than ever about connecting people to nature. Wendy Clarke began Dirtscape Dreaming with that purpose in mind, as a way of helping people to slow down and find themselves before it's forced upon them through health challenges. Over the years, we've been recognized and awarded by our industry peers, magazines and you, our clients. We are proud of our Gold, Silver and Bronze awards from the Melb. Flower & garden show, our business awards, our environmental accreditation, our membership of industry bodies, our contribution to advisory panels on courses in Landscape Design, setting standards for Landscape Design for the elderly with Dept. of Health, the many articles on creative childrens' gardens and the pages we've graced in national and local newspapers, magazines and websites. Most of all though, we're proud of all the people we've touched, inspired and taught all over Australia, by sharing the passion of creating beautiful gardens and connecting to themselves through nature.
